WOODLAND PLANS FIGHT FOR OUIMET

Boston Golf Club Asserts Disbarred Members Were Unfairly Treated.

ASKS SPECIAL SESSION

Revolutionary action by Woodland coif Club officials finally has started action in regard to the status of Francis Ouimet. J. H. Sullivan, Jr., and Paul Tewasbury, the three Woodland golfers deprived of competition as amateure by the United States Golf Association. Though Woodland does not accept the disqualification of its members and insists that they were wrongly deprived of their standing, the club asks that a special meeting of the U. S. G. A. be held and has named a committee to argue the question for the three golfers. There was a general discussion of the smatter question at the recent annual meeting of the Woodland Golf Club. First, L. B. Folsom, president of the organization, stated the case and then W. M. Noble made the revolutionary speech, which hit at certain men who were considered primarily responsible for the adoption of the amateur rule in

Among other things Noble said that the man whose business was to protect golden of the Massachussetts district wrote the letter which led to the disbarring of Ouimet, Sullivan and Tewksbury. Also he charged that already the U. S. G. A. is determined to overrule any motion offered by Woodland in regard to the three disqualified players. He asserted that the Massachusetts Association officials were not holding up their home clubs and were working rather for Among other things Noble said that clubs and were working rather for peme clubs and were working rather for New York.

President Folsom reviewed the situation back to the time when the disqualification came. He told of M. L. Crosby. Massachusetts representative on the U. S. O. A. executive board, being invited to discuss the situation, but declined. He spoke of the meeting wherein five Woodland members met Messra. Crosby. Whitney and Wheeler of the U. S. G. A. when a request was made that the amateur rule in question be rescinded or else left in absyance until the 1917 meeting of the national body. Both requests were turned down. Folsom said about the only thing accomplished was an admission by the U. S. G. A. that the national body had no authority to order the players in dispute eliminated from the Massachusetts association. the Massachusetts association.

The outcome of the meeting was the decision to go the limit in demanding its rights and that of Outmet, Sullivan and Tawksbury. Woodland is fit for fight and ready to wage war against the whole country. Mr. Folsom explained that Woodland stands a good chance to gain a victory, as there will be a full meeting this year, and the "ninety members heretofore powerful will not control the 350 votes." Woodland has not retained legal advisers nor will it, concluded President Folsom.

Mayo Sets Record of 7 10-20 in Straight Rail Tournament.

A foretaste of what may come later in the national novice straight rail billard finals was offered last night by Nelson B. Mayo, representative of Doyle's Playing on the home table, Mayo flashed the most spectacular game of the competition, getting his 150 points in twenty innings for an average of 710-20 and beating Dr. Frederick M. Bauer of Daly's by 150 to 51.

It was a night of big figures generally. Irving Schwartz, from the Morningside room, while beating Charles Ebson of Flynn's at Thum's by 150 to 67, averaged 423-22. Schwartz made a run of 25 and others of 16, 11, 11, 10 and 10.

It is unfortunate the dinner takes place on the night I had hoped to listen to the Hindoo poet Tagore read his own work at Opera House, Brooklyn. A treat I cannot miss, it being the only chance to hear this remarkable man.

The best I can do is to run up to Park Avenue Hotel at 10 o'clock and get at least the best part of the occasion—for really I'm not much on dinners.

The affair is certainly a good idea—it tends to bind the members of the craft tangling and literary) closer. It should bear fruit.
